

Bry-Air participated in China Battery Show 2011

Date: 14 August, 2011

Bry-Air, the leading manufacturers of Dehumidifiers has participated in China Battery Show 2011

The exhibition was held from 10th August to 12th August 2011.

Bry-Air, the leaders in Moisture and Humidity Control participated in the recently concluded China Battery Show.

It has witnessed a strong participation from Lithium Battery industry. More than thousand visitors visited the event. Hundreds of visitors shown interest in Bry-Air products and enquire about it.

Bry-Air has showcased it's "DryPurge" technology for dry rooms in the show. It has been tailored for ranges specific upto -60°C to -70°C dew point applications.

Bry-Air has also displayed dehumidifier, which is the answer to all massive moisture problems. The Dehumidifier removes moisture through a process of continuous "physical adsorption".

About Bry-Air China

Bry-Air, a global solution provider for environmental control with specialisation in humidity control and dehumidification has been operating in China since 1998. Now a decade later, consistent growth and increased market presence has led to Bry-Air's expanded presence in the mainland.

Bry-Air now has wholly owned subsidiary, Bry-Air(Shanghai) Air Treatment Equipment Co. Ltd. Head quartered in Shanghai, Bry-Air Shanghai has full fledged sales and services offices in Beijing, Wuhan and Guangzhou. Bry-Air China has done prestigious projects both in the industrial and commercial sector.

To learn more about Bry-Air (Asia), it's products and solutions,

Visit us at www.bryair.com

Email us at: bryairmarketing@pahwa.com

Contact us at: +91 124 4091111